GALEGA OLIVE OIL

Description: Single variety olive oil made from ripe olives with subtle flavours, with a distinct almond edge, which is typical of Galega, the most emblematic olive variety of Portugal.

Campaign: The beginning of the campaign was characterized by warm temperatures and high relative humidity, which provided an environment conducive to diseases, making the selection of fruits and speed in harvesting an operation of utmost importance to obtain a high quality olive oil. However this year was a year of great olive production, higher than the usual average. The harvest took place between November and December 2013.

Olive Grove: We have selected 600 hectares family-run olive holdings in the Baixo Alentejo region, where there have been olive cultures for generations, partly using a traditional system and partly an intensive one. In the traditional system the olive trees are over 100 years old with large spaces between the trees, which allow them to grow freely. In the intensive system, the new groves, particularly the Cordovil and Cobrançosa cultures, have smaller gaps between the trees, which means they grow less and are more suited to mechanical harvesting. Integrated production is predominant, which is based on the use of auxiliary fauna (fungi, insect parasitoids, ladybirds) to control olive pests and diseases.

Varieties: Galega.

Production: The olives are transported separately, according to variety, and received at the Esporão olive press just a few hours after being picked and are processed immediately. The extraction begins with the rapid milling of the olives. Following the milling, the resulting paste is beaten slowly to allow the oil to seep from the pulp. In the decanter the oil is separated from the pomace and water, resulting an olive oil with some moisture and impurities. The oil is cleaned by centrifugation thus being ready to be filtered and then packed. The entire process takes place at temperatures below 27ºC, so the original flavours are not lost during extraction.

Tasting Notes:

Colour: Green with yellow tinges.

Aroma: Soft fruity with notes of green apples and nuts.

Palate: Very sweet, slightly spicy, harmonious and quite complex with a lingering aftertaste walnut.

Use and pairing: A smooth olive oil that works well with dishes with intense flavours. Ideal for salads, fat fishes and codfish.

Acidity: 0,3º
